BEAUMARIS CASTLE HISTORY

On my train ride through the city of Cardiff, Wales, headed for London, I met Caden Cadwalader, a Welsh citizen that I am still in contact with via LinkedIn. Caden and I, had a nice conversation about his country and how there are so many "Roberts" in Wales. Roberts is my last name, and I was fortunate enough to meet a few Roberts at a local pub in Wales. Of course, I got into a nice conversation about haunted places in Wales and Caden told me that there are many places in Wales that are haunted. Caden claims that Beaumaris Castle is probably one of the most haunted castles in the world. The town of Beaumaris was originally a Viking settlement known as Porth y Wygyr ("Port of the Vikings"), but the town itself began its development in 1295, when Edward I of England, having conquered Wales, commissioned the building of Beaumaris Castle as part of a chain of fortifications around the North Wales coast.

THE HEARTBROKEN WOMAN & THE CURSED KNIGHT

Caden has visited Beaumaris Castle, which is located on the Isle of Anglesey in Wales. Caden learned that the castle was haunted, with stories of a heartbroken woman and a cursed knight said to wander the castle grounds. The heartbroken woman is heard weeping on the grounds of the castle. Sometimes people actually see the heartbroken woman sitting on the grass with her hands on her face. She will look up at a person with tears in her eyes and then vanish. The cursed knight is sometimes seen walking around the grounds raising his fist in the air. Some locals who have seen the knight believe that he is angry about something. Bronnen Crowther who once worked the grounds at the castle saw the cursed knight swinging his sword towards the sky. It seemed he was angry at God. Bronnen watched for a bit and then saw the knight fade out into an outline of a man, then completely vanish.

THE GREEN-EYED SHADOW BEING

Legend has it that the famous Heartbroken Woman is of a medieval lady who lost her lover during one of the many sieges. Visitors to the castle have reported eerie sightings and strange whispers echoing through the castle's corridors. As for the Cursed Knight, legend has it that he was cursed for his treachery, doomed to wander the castle grounds for eternity in rusted armor. Some visitors have reported heavy footsteps in parts of the castle when no one else is around, and shadowy forms moving quickly around corners. Caden says he has seen the moving shadows with his peripheral vision. He has also heard the whispers. The whispers sound female and Caden believes it is the Heartbroken Woman. Caden also says that nearby is Beaumaris Gaol. Beaumaris Gaol is also known for its paranormal activity. Visitors report dark, eerie shadows lurking in the corners. Caden says that he once encountered a shadowy figure with striking green eyes. The Green-Eyed Shadow Being circled around Caden. Caden felt instantly nauseated and dizzy. When the Green-Eyed Shadow Being left, Caden felt normal again. Strange chanting in the chapel area has been caught on recorders on many occasions. Reports of distressed screams have also been heard. Theory has it that these are the sounds of stonemasons from the past. People consistently report feelings of being watched in the long corridors, and an overbearing sense of loneliness is felt throughout. The gaol's haunted reputation has attracted numerous paranormal events, ghost hunts, and ghost investigations.

Haunted Emily Morgan Hotel

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective

Halo Paranormal Investigations

FROM WIKIPEDIA:

The Emily Morgan Hotel, formerly known as the Medical Arts Building, is a 13-story Neo-Gothic hotel near the Alamo and part of the Alamo Plaza Historic District in San Antonio, Texas. Built in 1924 and standing 205 feet (60 m) tall, it was the tallest building in San Antonio until the Milam Building surpassed it in 1928. The hotel claims to be one of the most haunted locations in San Antonio. When the Emily Morgan Hotel was a Medical Arts Building, it housed a medical complex with a morgue and crematorium.

Now you are probably wondering. Is the Emily Morgan Hotel haunted? Yes, the Emily Morgan Hotel in San Antonio, Texas, is widely known and considered one of the most haunted hotels in America, with a history as a medical facility and stories of paranormal activity.

Paranormal activity that has occurred in this hotel are as follows:

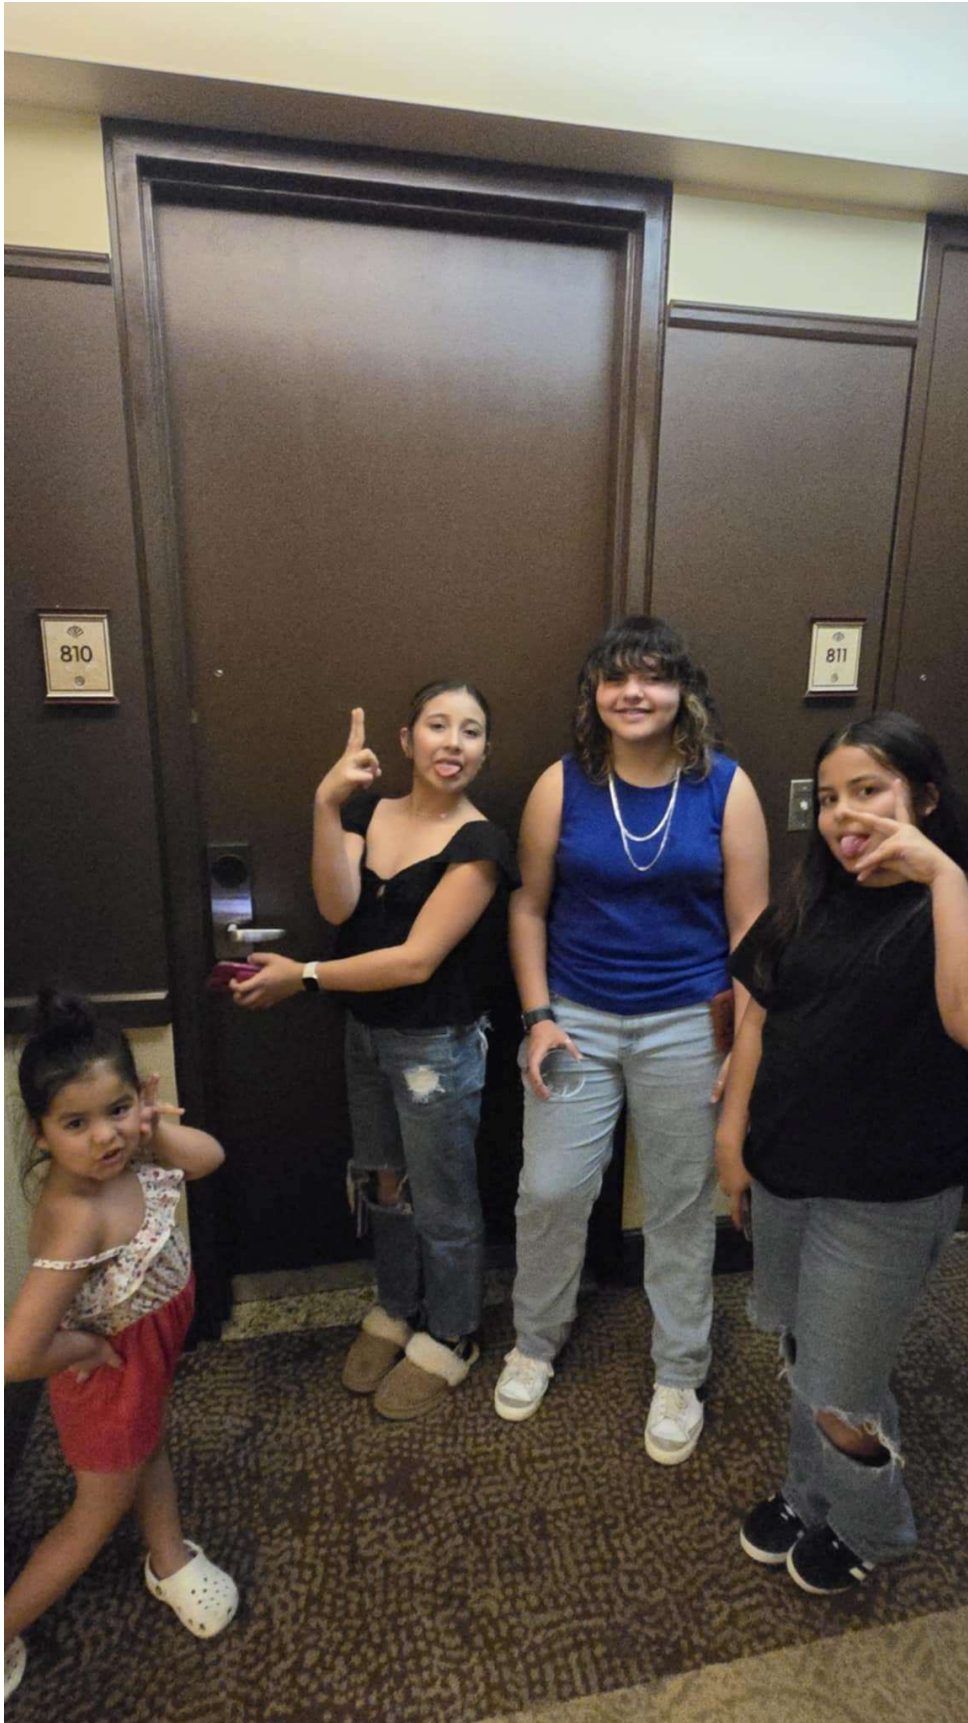

The hauntings at this hotel are blamed on the fact that it was once a Medical Arts Building. A building that saw many deaths.

Specific floors with Paranormal Activity:

The 7th, 9th and 14th floors are said to be particularly haunted, with some claiming the 14th floor has a distinct smell of antiseptic or a band-aid odor. On the 9th floor, disembodied footsteps are constantly heard at night.

Paranormal Phenomena Reported:

Elevators stopping at various floors for no clear reason, disappearing apparitions, and even unlisted phone calls from the elevators have been reported. Sometimes the elevator will stop at the 7th floor for no apparent reason. The 7th floor is an unoccupied floor that has many cold spots. The "Woman in White" is a common story involving a woman in white, often seen in the halls, who is said to stare intensely at guests before disappearing. Some believe that she is a former nurse that worked at the Medical Arts Building. The Woman in White is not to be confused with the "Vanishing Nurse". The Vanishing Nurse is seen wearing an outfit that looks like it was made in the 1920s. The Vanishing Nurse will be tending to unseen duties. Sometimes she is seen looking at a logbook and flipping pages. When you approach her, she will vanish.

Spooky Room 810:

Shadow People are sometimes seen in Room 810. Misty forms will move about in Room 810. Misty forms are also seen moving about in the hallways. There will be drops in temperature in Room 810 that come unexpectedly. Cold spots that come and go. When you look in the mirror, you may see ghostly distorted faces behind you. Electronics like hair blowers will cut off. Lights turn on and off on their own. When you take pictures throughout the hotel, you will capture orbs or mist in your photos. One guest felt someone lying next to her in the bed.

Meeting Room Activity:

Objects like pencils or papers will move on their own accord. Strange noises are sometimes heard. Stan Watkins of Shreveport, Louisiana attended a company meeting in the meeting room and saw a stocky looking guy with a suit on, sitting at the meeting table by himself. Stan turned around for just a couple of seconds and when he looked back, the stocky looking guy had disappeared. Stan to this day, believes he saw a ghost. When photos are taken inside the meeting room, there are usually orbs seen in the photos. Special Note: Orbs can be almost anything from skin flakes, dust, lint, light refractions, dew drops, etc. To prove that the orb is paranormal, you must show "intelligent movement". In the lobby a guest felt a sharp cold hand on his shoulder and when he turned around, there was no one there.

Smell of burning flesh:

Employees have reported a heavy, burning flesh smell in the basement, where the morgue and crematorium were located.

Ghost Tours:

The hotel even offers ghost tours that explore its history and paranormal reputation.

USA Today Ranking:

In 2015, USA Today named the Emily Morgan Hotel the third most haunted hotel in the world.

The Alamo:

Just across the street from The Emily Morgan Hotel stands the Alamo, one of the most famous and historically significant sites in Texas. The Alamo itself has a rich history and has been the subject of many legends and ghost stories, which may have spilled over to our neighboring hotel. The Emily Morgan Hotel's proximity to the Alamo only enhances its status as America's most haunted hotel, with ghostly encounters often drawing connections to the Alamo's turbulent past. Special Note: When I was stationed at Fort Hood, Texas 2nd AD Hell on Wheels, I visited the Alamo. While on tour of the Alamo, I felt an unseen shoulder brush up against my shoulder. The Alamo is very haunted.

My son Jason Randall Porter and his girlfriend Vanessa Sawyer describe their experiences at this hotel. Also, on this trip were the Jason's Ghost Hunting Rebels, my granddaughters and their cousins.

Jason's Report:

Didn't see much. Heard some weird sounds. Floor 14 had a very awkward smell compared to Floor 13. On Floor 13, towards the end, the elevator doors would start to shut and re-open multiple times before finally closing. Brooklyn and her cousin Elayna both had scratches on their backs, about 6 inches at the very end as well. I can't tell you how they obtained those scratches.

Vanessa Sawyer's Report:

I woke up out of nowhere, it seemed. I was like saying to myself: "what the hell? That was weird". Then I felt a weird feeling, the room felt heavy and the hairs on my arms and back of my neck started to stand up. I thought to myself: "oh no". . Then BOOM, BOOM, BOOM, someone is pounding on the door. My parents wake up, then my dad gets up to check and no one is at the door. He is just standing in the room by the door and the banging starts again, but this time it's on the wall. We are confused and say "What the?". Next the door handle from the front door, and the door inside the room (for the conjoined rooms) handle starts to jiggle like someone was trying to open them. My dad opens the door and there is NO ONE there. I then say to myself, screw this, I'm going back to bed. I shut my eyes and still feel that heavy feeling and hear the noises. Then all of a sudden it stops, and that feeling is gone and the banging stops. My dad makes sure all the locks are locked, and we go back to bed. 30 minutes later Salem wakes up coughing. She is coughing so much she throws up twice. My mom and I get her to calm down and cleaned up and then all of sudden I feel that feeling again. I told my mom something is about to happen and sure enough the banging started on the inside door! We just sit and wait for it to stop. Once it stops, I went and checked the door and the door is now unlocked!!! She said oh heck no, and we ran back to bed and just laid there. After about 5 minutes that feeling went away and everything was back to normal. With everything that happened that night, I woke up late in the morning. I was mentally exhausted by the strange activity in my hotel room.

Hello Paul,

Thanks for returning my email so quickly we did see that there were other contributors that worked on the book as well. We heard that Sean doesn't do media interviews but we would be interested in speaking with you if you are comfortable discussing UFOs, strange lights, bigfoot sightings, lost hikers at Mount Shasta, ect. Is this within your wheelhouse? We look forward to hearing from you.

Thanks!

to Tabatha

Absolutely! Mount Shasta is a very mystical place that falls upon a leyline. Mount Shasta may be a dormant volcano, but it is a natural energy source that UFOs seem to use for their craft. Volcanos seem to be a gas station of sorts for UFOs. UFOs also have been seen going inside Mount Shasta and coming out of Mount Shasta. Two hikers contacted me on the paranormal hotline and witnessed a gigantic winged creature flying out from some tree branches. Their description came close to what people have described as a Batsquatch. One of my investigators Holly DeLaughter (the former secretary of Sylvia Brown) felt something was behind her, I snap a photo and there is a tilted disc in the air behind her. I did wood on wood communication with Bigfoot by hitting a tree with a tree branch 3 times and right behind me 3 rocks were thrown in the creek. Bears are unable to throw objects and I believe it was a way for Bigfoot to communicate with me and there was no human behind me. Also, there is a former hotel at Mount Shasta and we captured all kinds of evidence of ghostly activity. Mount Shasta has UFOs/UAPs; Bigfoot, Batsquatch, last of the Lemurians living in the caverns, vanishing people above the treeline, ghosts, the immortal Count Saint Germaine (was sighted at Mount Shasta), etc. I have all kinds of stories about Mount Shasta. I would love to talk about my investigation at Mount Shasta. Best, Paul.

Five Haunted Locations in Stockton, CA

jazmaonline.boards.net/thread/3222/pauls-books

There are several places in Stockton, CA that are haunted. One of the most notable investigations that I have done in Stockton, is a house that is known as "the Most Haunted House in Stockton" and you can watch the video here:

Today 3/22/2025, Wish Fire - Psychic Medium and me, decided to go to 5 haunted locations in Stockton, CA that we have never been to before. We will talk to some people and conduct some basic paranormal investigating using only a camera and digital recorder for various EVP sessions.

East Eight Mile Road

On the long, paved border between Stockton & Lodi that stretches past Elkhorn Golf Club and Oak Grove Regional Park, Eight Mile Road can get a bit spooky. East Eight Mile Road reminds me of the haunted roadway known as Dyer Lane in Sacramento. Just like Dyer Lane this road has its own legends. Some ghost hunting enthusiasts have seen the mysterious Woman in White. The Woman in White is wearing an elegant flowing white dress. She is usually seen walking on the side of the road. Some witnesses even claim she will automatically appear in the backseat of your car. A former ghost hunting team called T.O.E. (Turlock Occult Element) says that a young Miwok Native American girl named Kalyska walks the same stretch of road as the Woman in White. They asked Kalyska what her name was and she said Kalyska. Looking up the name, it means "coyote chasing deer". If you travel this road at night, you may just hear a woman screaming. As we drove down this road, we stopped in a few places and did some EVP sessions. I captured no EVPs. Wish Fire felt the presence of Kalyska. She feels that Kalyska looks after the wildlife, she is a lover of animals and does not intend to scare people that drive down this road.

Bob Hope Fox Theatre

There have been many performances at this theater. The theater opened in 1930. Wish Fire and I, walked around the theater and I captured an EVP of a man saying: "Going inside?" We heard about the man and woman dressed in Victorian attire who hangs out in the balcony overlooking the stage. Wish Fire believes this woman's name is Betsy. Luke Mason of San Jose says that he felt a sharp tap on his shoulder. Luke says that he has felt cold spots in certain areas of the theater.

Hotel Stockton

Built in 1910, this majestic structure is located near the Regal Stockton City Centre Cinema in Janet Leigh Plaza. Hotel Stockton has been a 252-room hotel, City Hall, the County Courthouse, and the Public Administration Department during its century long existence. In that time, Hotel Stockton is alleged to have three particular entities that haunt its halls. The three entities are: The White Suit Smoker (who can be seen smoking while standing on a stool in the back area by the stairs), The Wandering Ghost on the 4th Floor (who is said to be that of a man who was killed in one of the rooms in the 1960s), and The Ghostly Pianist (disembodied piano music is sometimes heard). During our walk around, we heard 2 piano notes that sounded like it came from a distance.

The B&M Building

The former home to Visit Stockton and the Downtown Stockton Alliance, the 2nd oldest brick building in Muddville is situated in Janet Leigh Plaza, next to Blazin' Cajun. It is also the home of an entity named "Lydia." DSA employees on the 3rd floor have gone on the record with their first-hand accounts of a woman in a hair bun & long brown dress roaming the halls and gazing out windows. There have been cold spots felt, faint music heard, and the scent of cigars smelled in various areas of this building. On the outside of this building, I captured an EVP of a woman saying "hello". I then asked..."are you Lydia?" The next EVP was of a woman that said "yes".

CSU Stanislaus, Stockton Center (formerly Stockton State Hospital)

Our last stop was the CSU Stanislaus, Stockton Center, formerly known as the Stockton State Insane Asylum. Built in 1853, it was the state's first hospital for the mentally ill. This hospital had a bad reputation from the beginning. A superintendent was accused of forcing patients to build his house and underreporting deaths under his watch. Patients were shackled, and some sterilized against their will. And like many hospitals at that time, lobotomies were considered appropriate treatment. Wish Fire could envision the torture that happened at this hospital. Today, that very stretch of land that once housed the hospital is now the home of the Stockton Campus of CSU Stanislaus and University Park Discovery Trail & World Peace Rose Garden. Wish Fire still felt the negative energy that was left behind. That negative energy will never go away.

Missing in the Pyrenees Mountains

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective
Halo Paranormal Investigations

Located in France and Spain, mountains of the Pyrenees form a natural border between the Iberian Peninsula and the main continent of Europe, defining the border between the countries of Spain and France. This mountain range is very strange. There have been reports of UFOs/UAPs seen along this mountain range. Strange sounds, like machinery are heard inside the mountain range. During the War of the Spanish Succession in 1707, a 4000-man invasion force under the Habsburg Archduke, Charles, camped at the foot of the Pyrenees on their way to Spain, breaking camp the following morning and marching through a mountain pass. This well-armed and equipped force never reached its goal, nor was it ever accounted for. Where did 4000 soldiers go? If this legend is true, I want to know more about the Pyrenees Mountains.

From the humanoid sighting reports at this mountain range, Albert Rosales has a report that occurred on January 11, 1967, at Aveyron Basses Pyrenees Mountains, France. This incident happened at 9pm. The witness saw a “shell” shaped object taking off from his farm. The witness chased what he called a ball of light with his car. The ball of light always stayed 150 yards ahead of his moving vehicle. At some point of time the car engine stalls, the lights on his car go out. When this happened a saucer shaped craft came down. The object was 9 to 12 feet off the ground and 60 feet away from the witness' car. The object had two transparent cupolas. In each cupola, the witness could see a helmeted figure, human like and dressed in green and white coveralls. He felt a wave of heat and partial paralysis. With a whistling sound, the UFO rose to a 50-yard altitude, dropped back again to near ground level, then was enveloped in a brilliant yellow white light. The object then shot off at a tremendous speed. The speed of the craft was faster than any man-made craft. After the UFO departed, everything went back to normal again. The car started back up, lights came on. For the next few weeks, the witness had sleeping problems. The location on where the witness saw the UFO, there was an influx of UFO activity that lasted for 3 weeks. It was also interesting to note that Albert Rosales sleeping problems lasted for 3 weeks. When the UFOs left, Albert's sleeping problems ended.

UNDERGROUND ALIEN BASE?

Another interesting fact is that the CIA was experimenting with remote viewing and one of their best remote viewers was the late Patrick Price, an exceptionally gifted psychic employed by a CIA contractor in the 1970s. According to Captain Frederick H. Atwater, a retired US Army officer also involved at the time in highly classified ‘remote viewing’ experiments for the CIA and the Defense Intelligence Agency, as well as for the Army’s Intelligence and Security Command, Price had remotely viewed four alien bases on Earth, one of which was located under Mount Ziel, Northern Territory. Mount Ziel lies some 80 miles west-northwest of Pine Gap. Price believed the base contained a mixture of ‘personnel’ from the other bases, one purpose being to ‘transport new recruits, with an overall monitoring function’. The other bases were said to be under Mount Perdido in the Pyrenees, Mount Inyangani in Zimbabwe, and, coincidentally, in Alaska, under Mount Hayes. Price described the occupants as ‘looking like homo sapiens, except for the lungs, heart, blood and eyes’.

I can only wonder if there is a connection to the missing people and a possible extraterrestrial underground base. Are people being abducted, so that aliens can experiment on them? Notable cases of missing people are:

Esther Dingley, a British hiker who went missing on November 2020 and whose remains were found in 2021. She was hiking alone in the Pyrenees. Her remains were found in July 2021 near the Port de la Glère mountain pass. Her boyfriend, Daniel Colegate, reported her missing after she failed to return from her solo trip. Esther was known to be an experienced hiker, and it didn't make sense on why she failed on this hike. A hike that lead to her demise.

Other Disappearances:

In August 2024, a retired British doctor, Tom Doherty, went missing while hiking and camping near Col d'Escots in the French Pyrenees. A search and rescue operation was launched, but the search was eventually called off. In June 2024, a 70-year-old British hiker was found dead in the Pyrenees mountains after a four-day search.

Factors Contributing to Disappearances:

The Pyrenees are a remote and rugged mountain range, which can make navigation difficult and increase the risk of accidents. People who visit the mountain range suspect that UFOs are the reason for all of the missing people. While other people believe the missing people experienced harsh weather conditions that brought danger in their hike, which either lead them to be missing or to be found dead. The weather in the Pyrenees can be unpredictable and change rapidly, making it dangerous for hikers.

Cryptids in the Pyrenees Mountains

Missing people, UFOs, a possible underground alien base makes the Pyrenees Mountains a very strange place. There have also been reports of cryptids on this mountain range. Gabriel Bossu who has camped out at this mountain range claims he encountered the "Werewolf of the Pyrenees Mountains". This creature tore his tent and when Gabriel turned on his flashlight, the creature ran off. It's interesting that Gabriel mentions a werewolf in this region, as there was a werewolf that terrorized the people of France and is known as the Beast of Gevaudan. Dominique Valtille tells us of a French legend of "Cheval Malet". A black horse that entices people to ride her and she takes them away and they are never seen again. Dominique claims to have encountered this horse and wanted to befriend the horse, but something in her mind told her to stop and walk away from the horse, because she was in danger. Dominique was hiking with 2 other friends and when she told her friends, they went back to see the horse and the horse was not there. Another case is the case of Hugo Alonzo. Hugo who was on a hunting trip on this mountain range, saw a bright light through the trees. Hugo then saw the silhouette of a giant man who must have been 15 feet tall. The giant man was surrounded by 3 small humanoids. Hugo believes he encountered the "Jentiles". Jentiles are either giants or dwarves. Hugo observed them for about 2 minutes and then there was another flash of light, and they were gone. Could these creatures that Hugo saw be extraterrestrials that reside in the underground alien base? A hiker named Adan Ruiz claims to have seen the "Anjanas" flying about in the bushes and trees. Anjanas are fairies. Adan's story is interesting, because fairies are at times associated with UFOs. Fairies are small creatures, so are some extraterrestrials like the "Grays". Grays are at times seen carrying a small wand, which can cause paralysis. Fairies are known to carry wands. There are crop circles, UFO nests. Fairies have "fairy circles". Fairies are known to abduct children. Extraterrestrials are known to take fetuses from pregnant mothers. The list goes on and on, but I think you see the connection.

Is there an underground alien base at the Pyrenees Mountains? It seems that way, with so many sightings of UFOs/UAPs on this mountain range and reports of UFOs flying into the mountain and flying out of the mountain. Mechanical devices heard inside the mountain, cryptids being seen. What I can tell you is that this mountain range is very STRANGE!

OUR AI FUTURE

By Paul Dale Roberts

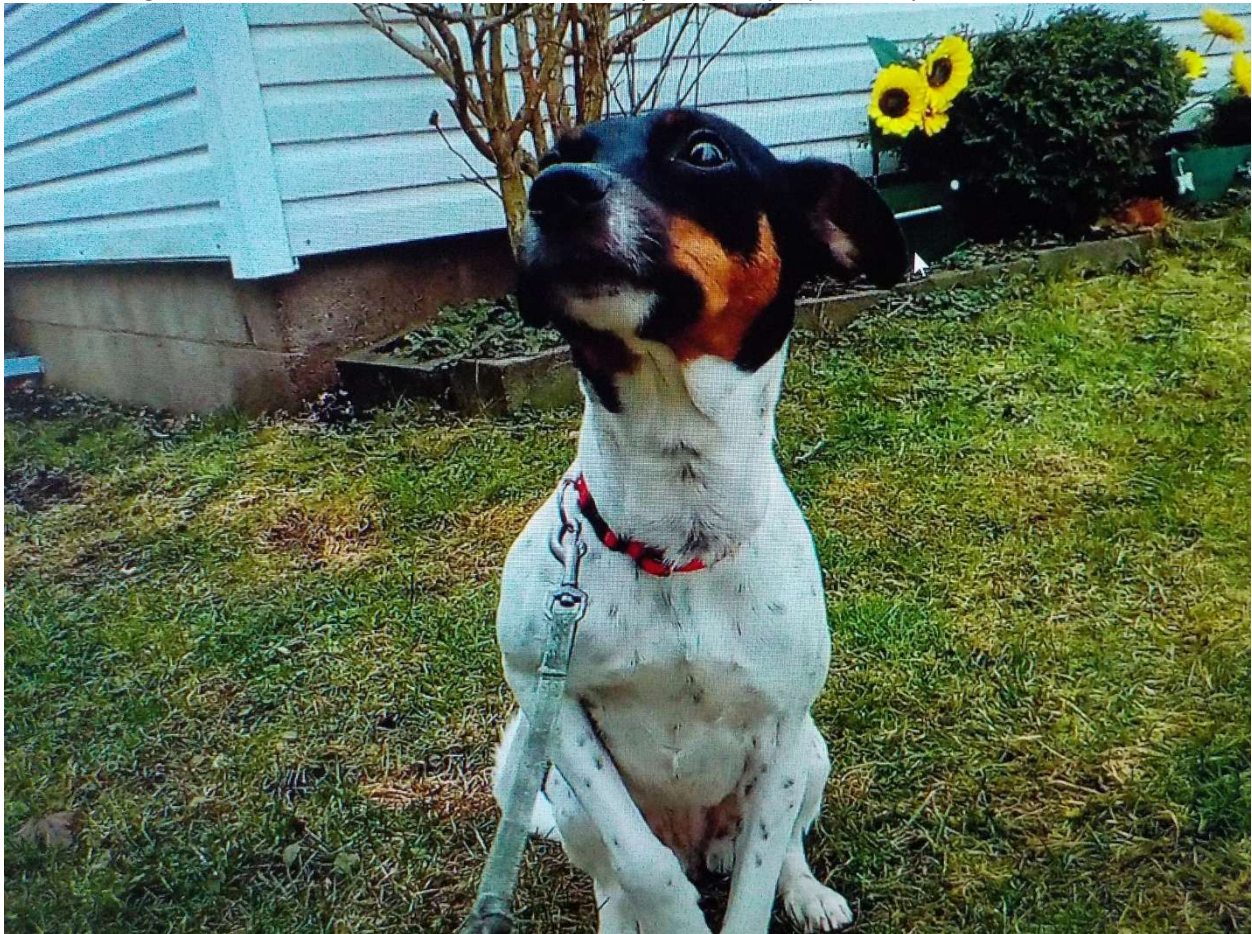

3/29/2025

We have an interesting AI future ahead of us. This is what we might expect:

1. Complete AI generated movies. The use of human movie stars will be obsolete.
2. The ability to bring deceased movie stars back into the movies. We may see the likes of AI generated deceased movie stars like Marilyn Monroe & James Dean in new movies.

The Dark Witch of Sharp Park Road

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective
Halo Paranormal Investigations

Victims of the Gypsy Hill Killings:

Yesterday (4/2/2025), I received a call on the paranormal hotline from a gentleman named Rudy. Rudy lives in Pacific Heights in San Bruno, CA. Rudy tells me that on 3/16/2025 he was driving down Sharp Park Road in Pacifica. As he was driving down this winding road, he noticed a black car with hazard lights on. Rudy did not see anyone near or around the car and kept going. As the car disappeared, out of view, he saw a woman dressed in all black. The woman wore a long flowing black dress, her face looked angry and somewhat distorted. When Rudy looked at the woman's face, chills went down his back. Rudy felt like he was looking at something evil. Rudy thought the woman was a witch. When Rudy's eyes connected with this strange woman, he felt a hot sensation engulf his whole body. Rudy felt his body was somehow overheating. The woman was pointing at something down the hill, off the road. Rudy kept driving, whatever Rudy saw, he didn't want any part of it. As Rudy looked in his rear-view mirror the evil faced woman had disappeared. Rudy wondered if he just saw a ghostly witch.

One hour later, Rudy was driving back home, and the creepy woman was gone, and the stalled out black vehicle was also gone. Rudy mentioned his experience with his closest friends. One of Rudy's friends named Lorenzo says one day he was driving down Sharp Park Road and heard a woman screaming.

Lorenzo stopped his car to see where the screaming was coming from. Then all of a sudden, the woman's scream came from all over, as if she was going around in circles, around Lorenzo. Lorenzo thought this was too crazy and immediately left the scene.

When I received Rudy's story, I did some researching and discovered that Sharp Park Road is connected to the Gypsy Hill Killings that happened in 1976. 18-year-old Veronica Cascio was found in a creek near Sharp Park Golf Course in Pacifica, face down in the creek and stabbed 30 times. 14-year-old Tatiana Blackwell was stabbed multiple times and found lying off Sharp Park Road. I only wonder if the woman dressed in black is connected to these murders. Was the lady in black a murder victim pointing to where her body might be at? When these murders were taking place, the media called the culprit the San Mateo Slasher. Come to find out the San Mateo Slasher was actually 2 individuals. The killers were Rodney Halbower and Leon Seymour. Rodney is credited with 4 murders, possibly 2 more. While Leon is credited for only 1 murder. What is interesting is that Rudy saw a black stalled out car. The victims of the San Mateo Slasher had stalled out vehicles.

There have been other deaths on Sharp Park Road. There was once a multi-casualty auto accident that happened on this road, where 7 people were severely injured. Recently as 2005, 2 students from Terra Nova High School were killed when their truck hit a tree. Rudy is searching for the answers on what he saw and asked me on what steps he needs to take, to ghost hunt. I explained some basic ghost hunting techniques with Rudy. Rudy and Lorenzo are going to do some ghost hunting on Sharp Park Road. Rudy and Lorenzo believe this road is truly haunted. Rudy is going to give me a full report on what they find.

The Bathroom Ghost

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective

Halo Paranormal Investigations

Date: 4/8/2025

Time: 1pm / 1300 Hours

Type: Paranormal Investigation & Blessing of Home.

Occupant: Wants to remain anonymous. I will call the occupant Tillie.

Location: Somewhere in the Greater Sacramento area.

Evidence Collected: No EVPs captured. No anomalies in my photos.

THE BRIEFING

I arrive at Tillie's home. Tillie explains to me that from 2004 to 2006, she had a roommate. I will call her former roommate "Walter". Tillie says that Walter was a prankster. He would place a Whoopee Cushion on the couch for Tillie to sit on. Walter would set up pranks around the house and found it to be quite humorous. Tillie says that Walter always had one liners or some silly jokes. In 2006 Walter moved out with his girlfriend and the house was back to normal again. In 2007, Tillie received some devastating news. Walter died in a motorcycle accident. Tillie believes that Walter is now haunting her home and it's making her feel very uncomfortable. Tillie tells me that the haunting started about 7 months ago, when she discovered a well-used "Composition Book" that was underneath the mattress in the guest room. This guest room was once Walter's room. The notebook was Walter's "date" book. He would write about his dates with many different women that he had met online. Walter even had a rating system in his notebook. Tillie looked over the notebook and did not see anything of value and tossed the notebook into the trash. Two days later, the haunting started, and Tillie believes it is Walter. Tillie believes that Walter is upset because she threw out his date notebook.

ACTIVITY:

When Tillie goes to the bathroom, Walter follows. Tillie has heard his voice whispering in her ears. Tillie has been documenting the words that are coming out of Walter's mouth. Tillie says that Walter once said: "I knew it!" Walter also said one word that really upset Tillie. Walter said "stink". Walter will sometimes shut off the bathroom light and Tillie will find herself in the dark, while taking a shower. Walter once wrote on the bathroom mirror: "I see you." The straw that broke the camel's back is when Tillie found her toothbrush in the toilet. Tillie says "enough is enough" and asked me if I could send Walter into the light? Tillie says that at times she has heard the sounds of flatulence coming out of the bathroom and some laughter. Tillie said Walter, when alive had a bad habit of releasing flatulence. Tillie asks if I ever experienced a haunting like this. My answer is "yes". I had one case. When I was in the military, I worked alongside a Marine named Wolf. Wolf would get in trouble for releasing his flatulence in a work environment and sometimes in the mess hall. Many soldiers complained about Wolf. Wolf would get upset and say..."I don't want to work at a job, where I can't relieve myself! It's only natural!" Wolf was a former biker, with tattoos all over, muscular build, long beard, and was somewhat intimidating. Wolf like Walter also died in a bike accident. I was in contact with his wife, and she felt that Wolf was still around, because she heard flatulence noises around the house. The sounds of her late husband Wolf.

INVESTIGATION AND CLEANSING

I did an EVP sweep around the house and did not capture any EVPs. The EMF reader lit up at a spot where Walter would hang out, but I am not considering this as evidence. It could be wiring in the walls of the home. There were no anomalies in my photos. I conducted a Roman Catholic house blessing. Tillie said that the air felt light in the home. Tillie believes Walter may be finally gone. Tillie will get in touch with me and let me know how the blessing went. This case is still PENDING.

Top 6 Haunted Places in Indiana

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective
Halo Paranormal Investigations

I've driven through Indiana, on my way to Fort Knox, Kentucky, back in 1982. Unfortunately, I was on a deadline to report for my new duties as an Army Instructor at Fort Knox, so I had no time to investigate any haunted locations in Indiana. But, I do have some good news, I have an old Army buddy named Mike Summerson who is from Indiana. Mike's hobby is being an independent ghost hunter and Mike provided me with his 6 favorite places to ghost hunt in Indiana. Let's look at Mike's 6 favorite haunt spots!

Tunnelton Road, Guthrie Township, Lawrence County, Indiana

One of the most haunted tunnels in Indiana is the Tunnelton Tunnel. Some locals refer this tunnel as the "Big Tunnel". This tunnel was built in 1859. Legend has it that a railway worker lost his head during a construction accident. Many locals have seen the headless worker walking around inside the tunnel. Some people say that in one hand he is carrying a lantern, the other hand is carrying his head. Mike said that he took some pictures of the tunnels and captured some orbs in his photos, but orbs can be anything, and Mike feels the orbs are merely dust. Some people believe that when the tunnels were built, they ignored the fact that a cemetery was on the topsoil. As the workers continued building the tunnel, the cemetery collapsed into the tunnel. Now the ghosts of this cemetery haunt the tunnels. Mike talked with Katie Lens, an Indiana resident and she claims that she has heard moaning noises inside the tunnel.

The Nicholson House, Indianapolis, Indiana

Address: 1500 N Delaware Street, Indianapolis, Indiana

In 1997, the Nicholson House was moved to a safe location for preservation purposes. The house is now a local landmark. When the mansion was moved, a local reporter took a photo and in one of the windows, a full body apparition can be seen looking out of the window. No one was in the house at the time the photo was taken. Locals have heard knockings on the wall, disembodied footsteps, screams, the smell of decaying or burnt flesh. Some people even claim they have seen blood run down the walls and then the blood just disappears. Mike believes that the people who have claimed that blood was running down the walls, may have been influenced by horror movies. Blood running down the walls is a good theme used in horror movies, like the Amityville Horror. Stories are told of a former resident that committed suicide in this house. The smell of burning flesh is believed to be former slaves who were part of the Underground Railroad. The slaves were hiding out in the basement, the basement caught fire and some of the slaves were burned alive. Mike says that there was an unusual smell, and it did smell like burnt flesh or decaying flesh. Mike said the smell lasted for a few seconds and then the smell went away.

The University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Indiana

Address: Notre Dame, Indiana

Students from this prestigious university have been haunted by unseen hands slamming doors, odd noises like the sounds of people choking. Mike talked with 3 students from this university and one of the students named Daniel says he has heard disembodied footsteps. Daniel on one day, found mysterious scratches on his arm. The most active spot on campus is Washington Hall. Local legend says the hall is haunted by George Gipp, a former Notre Dame football player who died on school grounds in 1920. Not only is George active, but he can also get quite aggressive, allegedly pushing students in the back. Daniel thinks that George Gipp may have scratched him. George Gipp is the man behind the phrase "Win one for the Gipper." Columbus Hall is another location known for scary phantoms. Students see shadow people, hear odd noises. The shadow people will appear and disappear. Sometimes the shadow people will move around corners at lightning speed. The ghosts who roam around this area are said to be the spirits of Native Americans, as the hall itself is supposedly built on an ancient Potawatomi burial ground. Some students have mentioned that they hear distant sounds of drumbeats. Laura and Susan who are students, have seen a ghost with a yellow face. Laura mentions that a student opened a broom closet and Yellow Face popped out and scared the student so bad, the student had to take some time off to recover from the shock of seeing the ghost known as Yellow Face.

Fox Hollow Farm

Fox Hollow Farm is off 156th Street in Westfield.

The 18-acre property is the site of Herb Baumeister's 1996 murders.

Property once owned by the late serial killer Herbert Richard Baumeister. Herbert was also the prime suspect of being the I-70 Strangler. At the Fox Hollow Farm, police dug up eleven men that Herbert had killed. This area is very haunted. The property is haunted by the victims of this crazed serial killer. Apparitions have been seen roaming the property. Screams have been heard. Gurgling noises, like someone is choking on their own body fluids. Mike obtained an EVP of someone hacking and coughing.

The Willard Library, Evansville, Indiana

Address: 21 N 1st Avenue, Evansville, Indiana

The Willard Library, incorporated in 1881, is the oldest library in Indiana. It's also considered as one of the most haunted places in Indiana. Employees and visitors to the library have reported ghostly encounters dating back to the 1930s.

The most well-known resident apparition is The Gray Lady. She's been spotted throughout the library, including inside an elevator, basement hallways, and among the stacks. Mike says he captured an EVP of a woman saying: "The Library of Alexandria exists!" Mike believes this is The Gray Lady.

Avon Haunted Bridge, Avon, Indiana

Address: Near County Road 625 East, Avon, Indiana

People have seen full body apparitions on this bridge. They have also heard the sounds of crying. Legend has it that a rail worker died drunkenly stumbling into wet cement during the bridge's construction. Then there was the case of a slipping accident happening off the tracks, the victims were a young mother and her sick baby, as they fell to their deaths. Several workers fell off the track into the White Lick Creek and died. These workers still haunt the bridge. Mike did not get any EVPs and there were no anomalies in his photos. Mike did not experience anything he would consider as paranormal on this bridge, just a lot of stories.

Case # 91B62M4895P80

Name of Client: Marques Littles

Location: Home in Elk Grove, CA

Activity:

Marques captured strange biological creatures on his security cameras. He believes they are fairies or elementals. I looked at the footage and it looks like moths, bugs and what is called "Rods". Experts say that Rods or Air Rods are bugs. Marques says he saw a large demon with red eyes, that went through his wall. On one night, Marques was very tired and laid on the bed fully clothed. He woke up in the morning, completely naked and in a fetal position. Marques' wife went to the doctor, and he confirmed she was pregnant. The next time she went to the doctor, she was no longer pregnant. A false pregnancy, something that usually happens with extraterrestrial / UFO experiences. On another night, Marques heard the disembodied sounds of a man screaming.

XX

COAL MINING IN LEHIGH, OKLAHOMA

A little family history. My grandfather Emile Roberts and his brother Joseph Roberts worked the coal mines in Lehigh, Oklahoma. Many miners would get injured on the job or even killed in the mines. Emile said that the mines are very haunted and sometimes they hear the sounds of disembodied screaming. Shadow figures have been seen in the mines. My father Paul Marceau Roberts was a coal miner for a short time and even was a grave digger for a short period of time.

XX

STILL BORN

My mother Rosemarie Roberts had a stillborn baby. She named that baby George Roberts. George would have been my brother. My mother claims that she saw the ghost of the baby 3 times. In 1979, I got my girlfriend at-the-time pregnant, her name was Kathy Kleiber. Kathy had a miscarriage. 3 days after she had her miscarriage, I saw the ghostly spirit of that baby.

Most Haunted Castle in Slovenia: Predjama Castle

Paul Dale Roberts, HPI's Esoteric Detective

Halo Paranormal Investigations

jazmaonline.boards.net/

When my stepmother Cindy set foot in Predjama Castle, she felt a thickness in the air. Some parts of the castle, you feel an electric charge that seems to go through your body. Cindy heard many stories about this castle and from talking with locals and tourists, there is a lot of paranormal activity happening at this castle. The former lord of this castle Erasmus aka the Slovenian Robin Hood haunts this castle to this very day. Erasmus killed a Marshall at the Viennese Court and fled to the castle to escape punishment. Erasmus survived, thanks to a secret tunnel. The secret tunnel was a supply route, bringing food and other necessities that was needed to survive. Erasmus eventually met his fate when he was betrayed and killed by his own men. His ghost is said to walk the maze of cold, dark passageways, seeking revenge. One tourist saw Erasmus coming out of a wall holding a knife. His eyes were piercing. The tourist was so scared that he fell. The ghost of Erasmus walked past the fallen tourist and seemed to be looking for something.

Before the castle was built, there were people inhabiting the area where the castle now sits. The castle is built within the walls of a cave. That cave housed people from the Paleolithic era. It's the second largest cave in Slovenia. There is another cave which is 5 miles away from Predjama Castle called the Postojna Cave. Locals believe that Postojna Cave connects to Predjama Castle. The caves are very haunted. Shadow people have been seen in the caves. Disembodied growling is heard. People who venture into the cave get bruised and scratched by unseen forces. Predjama Castle was once known as Castle Luegg. Writings indicate that the castle was called Castle Luegg as far back as 1274.

The castle was most likely built in the 12th Century. So, you can see this castle has a lot of history. Slovenia was once part of the German empire. Luegg is the name of the German family who once owned the castle. In the 15th century Erasmus (Erazem) Luegg ruled the castle.

Luka Novak, a local claims that he is a psychic and was able to visualize seeing the castle damaged and soldiers of the Habsburgs taking possession of the castle, an event that actually happened. The Habsburgs controlled the castle for 1 year. History tells us that a family called the Oberburg(s) rebuilt the castle in 1510. Luka when visiting the castle also was able to utilize his psychic powers to go back in time and watch people running out of the castle during a massive earthquake that occurred in 1511. Luka says there is strong residual energy at this castle and traumatic events replay itself over and over again. Marko Kovacic, another local has seen a ghostly hunter walking the grounds of the castle. Marko spotted the ghostly hunter, and the ghostly hunter looked at Marko. The ghostly hunter placed his hand over his mouth and then started pointing. The hunter then positioned his rifle and disappeared.

You are probably wondering who Erasmus was. A bit of history on this Slovenian Robin Hood. Erasmus Luegg was a very clever knight and robber baron. He was compared to Robin Hood, stealing from the rich and giving to the poor. He was the son of the Emperor Governor of Trieste, Nikolaj Luegg. He became a target and wanted man when he killed the kinsman known as Marshal Pappenheim of Frederick III, the Holy Roman Emperor. Angering both the Roman Emperor and the House of Habsburg he fled to his castle, thinking he would be safe. The Habsburgs were convinced he wouldn't last long. They had even poisoned the water wells. Erasmus remained safe for over a year. Marija Vidmar a local saw the ghost of Erasmus crouching down in a corner, in the shadows, as if he was hiding. When Marija approached him, he disappeared.

Erasmus was very clever and knew all the tricks of the trade. Erasmus also knew the castle and cave system like the back of his hand. Thanks to a large vertical, natural shaft behind the castle, leading out to the open on the other side of the mountain. He was able to sneak in and out without being seen, even setting out on his plundering expeditions. Servants were able to get fresh food into the castle. The rainwater conservation system provided the castle residents with fresh water. Erasmus liked to tease his attackers by throwing fresh local products at his attackers like cherries. He loved to aggravate his attackers. Unfortunately, Erasmus was betrayed by one of his servants. He raised a flag when Erasmus was using his toilet in one of the outer (less protected) buildings and a cannon ended his life. The place where Erasmus is buried is marked with a tree. Tian Horvat a local tourist has heard the residual effects of that sudden death of Erasmus. During a visit to the castle, Tian heard the sound of a cannon and heard a man's blood curdling scream. When Tian asked other people if they heard the cannon and the scream, no one heard it, except for Tian.

Natasa Mlakar entered an area of the castle where there were holes in the ceiling of the entrance tower. Natasa saw boiling oil coming out of the holes and falling on 3 people. The 3 people were in agonizing pain as the hot boiling oil poured all over their bodies. This image of the boiling oil and 3 people suffering from the hot oil lasted for a couple of minutes and then it was gone. Natasa did some research and discovered that this was an actual event that happened in the castle. The boiling oil was a way to keep out intruders. Natasa also discovered that there was a space in between the walls of the dungeon made to brick people up inside the wall. Bones were found inside the thick wall. If you were an enemy and captured, you might wind up being bricked up inside a wall while alive. Sometimes tourists have heard screaming coming out of these walls.

This castle has a small courtroom which overlooked the small torture chamber. In the courtroom there is also a door leading to a 207-foot-deep vertical cave drop. Victims were usually tortured and executed at this spot and thrown into the cave drop. At this cave drop, screams are also heard. The caves underneath the castle are mineral caves with quartz and iron. Quartz is known to collect and store energy. The quartz most likely has collected all of the gruesome deaths that happened at this castle, making this castle the MOST HAUNTED castle in Slovenia!

CYNTHIA FRANCO STORY

This story is from Cynthia's own words.

It's been a long time since I was a little girl. The most vivid memory I have is of a lighted white dressed female walking towards my grandma's candles. I started screaming. My grandma was a spiritual Taina, and ghosts, demons, and shadows have haunted me, even hurting me. I've been spiritually open to these shadows and entities since I was five years old. Every house I've moved into, my subconscious opens a door for them to come through. My mom told me that when I was born, strange things used to happen around her.

I feel like I'm a portal to something. I've trained myself to lucid dream and have powers in my dreams. I can fly and I can even read time in my dreams. I know when to wake up too. People say it's impossible, but I do. I deliver messages to people, feel vibrations and people's energy, and can't go to hospitals or pass by cemeteries. So, I don't go to funerals. The black shadows I see, the things coming out of the walls, noises, opening cabinets, sinks running, and the man in the black hat with long fingers and no face are all part of my experiences. My children and husband have experienced this as well.

I have been spiritually open to these shadows and ghost/entities since I can remember I was 5 years old. Every house I have moved my subconscious opens a door for them to come through. My mom told me that when I was born weird stuff used to happen around her.

I am a portal to something. I trained myself to lucid dream and have powers in my dreams. I can fly, shoot lasers and fire from my hands, even read time in my dreams. People say it is impossible, but I do. I deliver messages to people. I feel vibrations and people's energy. I cannot go to hospitals and pass by a cemetery. So, I do not go to funerals.

I have tried getting help by the church and other mediums, but nothing has worked. The answers I get is that I am a portal. I have sleep paralysis when I try to wake myself and I see people surrounding me and whispering. I think they are trying to take over my body. I have gotten hurt multiple times. Pushed, punched, slap, dragged. It's been a horrible experience.

The one that concerns me most is a little girl who looks very sick and is always vomiting. As a mother it hurts my heart to see that. I asked myself what was done to her? What does she want from me?

My children have experienced the black shadows the man in the black hat, voices and noises.

In the hospital is overwhelming for me. I cannot tell who is real or not. My husband has caught me talking to someone, but he could not see who it was only me. I am always cold and in the Summer I have to wear sweaters. It's always freezing. When we drive, I have to keep my head down reading something because I would see dead spirits. The whispering never stops.

When I was in the Army it was very hard for me to know what was real and what was not. Especially when I got deployed to Afghanistan. Seen so many deaths and the dead was too overwhelming.

The following information was received from my sister Sharon from Pennsylvania. Sharon has checked out this neighboring state and discovered some of their ghostly hotspots.

Rockwood Museum

Our first stop is at 4651 Washington St. Ext., Wilmington. At this stop you will find the Rockwood Museum. The Rockwood Museum was once the retirement home of Joseph Shipley. The home was built between 1851 and 1854. Joseph was a successful merchant banker. Joseph designed the home to look like an English country estate. He was successful in doing this. With the home's gothic look, it actually looks like a haunted home you would have seen in the movies. Remember Stephen King's Pet Sematary? Well, this home actually has a pet cemetery. One of the ghosts that haunt this museum is Leisure Man. Leisure Man is seen walking around in a red smoking jacket. The ghost of Shipley's great-niece Mary Bringham haunts the home. She was once seen walking inside a wall. When she died, she was 100 years old. She died in 1965. You can tell if Mary is around, you will smell lilacs, this was her favorite perfume. One visitor of this residence claims that he saw Leisure Man standing next to Mary. They looked like they were conversing about something and then disappeared. People have felt cold spots in Mary's bedroom. The basement is one of the most active places in the house. A ghost called Shadow Man will pop up from out of nowhere. A housekeeper was cleaning up in the basement and Shadowman appeared in front of her, face-to-face. This was too much for the housekeeper and she quit her employment. Orbs of different colors have been seen in the basement. A visitor named Laura Brubaker says she encountered Lucky the ghost dog. Laura called the ghost dog Lucky, because the dog reminded her of her dog Lucky when she was a little girl. Laura said that the ghost dog Lucky actually rolled on his back and seemed to want his belly rubbed and then vanished. On the stairs, people have heard disembodied footsteps. Laura says the ghost that she is not afraid of, is Lucky. She felt that Lucky was there to protect her from the mysterious footsteps that were coming down the stairs.

Cooch's Bridge: Delaware's Horrific Battleground

Location: Around the area of S. Old Baltimore Pike. A quick history lesson. On September 3, 1777, 4,000 British and Hessian soldiers marched from Maryland into Delaware. Little did they know an ambush was about to take place. 800 militia and Continental Army soldiers waited in ambush. Their goal was to slow the British advance to Philadelphia and collect vital information. The Americans were victorious. Then the British pushed back, driving their enemy from Aiken Town, now Glasgow, over Iron Hill to the Welsh Baptist Meeting House. There was severe fighting at Cooch's Bridge, a property along the Christina River named for the Cooch family. Out of ammunition, the Americans retreated, and the British took Philadelphia on September 26, 1777. Many Delawareans who fought at Cooch's Bridge wintered with Gen. George Washington at Valley Forge. Before the battle, American sentries reported seeing an ominous white spectral horseman. They fired, but the apparition was unharmed. Legend has it that he was a British soldier wearing armor underneath a white sheet. One sensible sergeant aimed high and put a shot in the rider's head. The apparition was no more. Some say it was a ghost, other's say it was merely the enemy, a British soldier. When the fog rolls in and there is no moon in the sky, a headless British soldier is said to wander along the road near the haunted battle site, looking for his head. The ghost when he was alive was struck by a cannonball that decapitated him. The cannonball came from friendly fire, because at the time, Americans did not have any cannons. There are other stories, in which some people say it as an American named Charlie Miller. They say Charlie lost his head to a British cannonball. Along the bridge, people have heard the disembodied screams of men, gunshots and cannonball fire is sometimes heard. A self-proclaimed psychic claims that she saw the battle for a good 5 minutes, before everything faded away.

Lum's Pond State Park: The Screams of a Victim

Lum's Pond is a popular destination for campers, picnickers, paddlers, bikers and hikers. Delaware Public Archives makes claim that a runaway girl met her end in the 1870s when she encountered a stone-cold killer. Hikers and campers have heard the high-pitched screams and muffled shouts near the Swamp Forest Hiking Trail. They believe that these are the agonizing sounds of a murder victim. Another ghost that is at this location is John Lum, who ran a millhouse along the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal. Visitors have reported seeing the miller and his son roaming the grounds and hearing the phantom sounds of a water wheel. Lisa Marwood who was camping at Lum's Pond State Park saw the victim ghost girl. She was wearing a blue dress with blood on it. Her eyes were filled with terror as she was seen running out of the tree line. When she disappeared, her screams could be heard. Lisa said the screams at first were loud, then they went into a moderate level and finally she heard some gurgling. Lisa said it sounded like someone was choking, then silence. A small wind went into Lisa's campsite. Lisa had enough, packed up and left, never to return again. Location: 1068 Howell School Road, Bear, DE
